

BOOZE DISPENSERS PLACED UNDER BOND

Large Crowd Attended Trial of Newberry Negroes.

MUST ANSWER TO THE COURT

Sheriff Fennell and His Deputies Succeeded in Raiding What Was Alleged to be Four of the Largest "Tigers" in Alachua County.

The way of the transgressor is hard in Alachua county, especially if he has the misfortune to get captured as a dispenser of blind tiger booze. This fact has been demonstrated in several instances, but never more forcibly than Monday, when in Judge Mason's court four alleged offenders, Judge Knight, Ransome Murray, Andrew McDuffy and Charles Robinson, who were arrested and their places with a quantity of booze and beer, were seized in Newberry Saturday, were arraigned, and were required to give heavy bond for their appearance before the grand jury at the fall term of the circuit court.

Sheriff Fennell was assisted in the raid by Deputies J. H. Granger, J. Lee Stokes, J. B. Sifford, George W. Livingston and Jack Martin, and a large quantity of beer and whiskey was seized, about one hundred bottles of beer of a famous brew being on ice. Five barrels are now in the railroad station at Newberry consigned to Judge Knight. This beer was given into the custody of Special Deputy Sheriff Duncan, agent for the Atlantic Coast Line at that point.

HIGH SPRINGS SCRAP.

Two White Men Engaged in Sunday Row With Serious Results.

There was a Sunday afternoon row at High Springs, the participants being Car Inspector Sam Davis of the Atlantic Coast Line, and Tom Mixson, a young man about town, both white. The result proved bad for Davis, who received five or six ugly knife wounds, the most dangerous of which was a gash on the arm and a stab in the back. The altercation occurred in the yards of the Atlantic Coast Line, where Davis was at work.

The cause of the trouble is not known. Davis' condition may not prove fatal, but is very painful, and will incapacitate him for duty for some time.

Mixson, who is only about eighteen years of age, was arrested and locked up, pending a preliminary hearing before Justice Bexley.

An Appreciated Compliment.

The compiler and publisher of the Gainesville Directory has been the recipient of many compliments upon the work and its arrangement, all of which are duly appreciated. The latest, however, is from F. M. Ironmonger, Jr., Jacksonville, assistant general passenger agent of the Clyde Line, into the hands of whom a copy has fallen. Mr. Ironmonger says: "I have before me a copy of your Gainesville Directory for 1905-06, and write to congratulate you upon the same. It is excellently arranged, well printed and a credit to the compiler. In fact, it is the handsomest and one of the most efficiently arranged works of the kind I have ever seen."

Coming from this source voluntarily, the compliment is all the more appreciated. The publisher is gratified to know that the work is appreciated not only at home but abroad. The publisher does not attempt to claim that the work is absolutely correct, for no correct directory was ever printed; but he does assume the vanity to say that it is as correct as books of this kind ever get to be, and a great deal more reliable than some others.

This property is partly cleared, and is among the most fertile in the county, being largely hammock, with a very fine subsoil. The new owners will you should have a home and make it a fine one.

CONSUMPTION

THE HORSE CHESTNUT.

A Theory or Two as to the Origin of Its Name.

The horse chestnut tree is well known, and the nuts are dear to boys and sufferers from rheumatism. But the statement was made lately, and it is even found in some encyclopedias, that the name is given on account of its coarseness: "Like a horse, or like that of a horse; hence, coarse and unrefined." The reflection on the horse is an unworthy one, but let that pass. Is not the explanation given in Gerard's Herbal (1597) a more reasonable one? "Called in English horse chestnut, for that the people of the east countries do with the fruit thereof cure their horses of the cough and such like diseases."

There is a long list of plants that have animal prefixes—horse, dog, cat, bear, cow, pig, wolf, mouse, rat, toad, frog, dragon, snake, etc. In some instances "the name of an animal prefixed has a totally different significance, denoting size, coarseness and frequently worthlessness or spuriousness," but names have also originated from the particular uses to which certain plants have been put, and the horse chestnut is an example. The Turks, Arabians, Persians, all believed that these nuts cured horses of coughs, shortness of wind and such other ailments. In England a preparation of the nut was once used for bleaching yarn.

Yet there may be something in the statement of an Englishman, Alfred A. Millward: "The tree possesses a feature which I have often found to be not generally known. It is a very distinctly marked horseshoe, with seven dots corresponding to the nails of the horseshoe, and this appears at the knuckle of the branches, large and small, but more clearly on the latter."—Boston Herald.

Cures Sciatica.

Rev. W. L. Riley, L. L. D., Cuba, New York, writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatic rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment; the first application giving my first relief and the second entire relief. I can give it unqualified recommendation." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

When Lightning Kills.

"As a rule," says a meteorological expert, "those killed by lightning maintain an appearance of life, staying in the attitude which they had when struck. An English minister named Butler witnessed the following: In the town of Evedon ten harvesters had sought refuge under a hedge during a storm. Lightning struck and killed four, who were left as if petrified. One was found holding in his fingers the snuff which he was about to take. Another had a little dead dog on his knees and had one hand on the animal's head, while holding in the other hand some bread with which he had been feeding it. A third was sitting with his eyes open and his head turned toward the storm."—Chicago Tribune.

A Good Thing to Know.

A writer, discussing the lost art of early rising, says, "The proper time to rise is when sleep ends." That's a good thing to learn. Do you know, if we hadn't seen that in a paper we should have gone on believing that the proper time to rise was when you were right in the midst of your soundest sleep. What a blessed thing it is for this blind old world that there are some men in it who know nearly everything!

Fiendish Suffering

Is often caused by sores, ulcers and cancers, that eat away your skin. Wm. Bedell of Flat Rock, Mich., says: "I have used Bucklen's Arnica Salve for ulcers, sores and cancers. It is the best healing dressing I ever found." Soothes and heals cuts, burns and scalds. 25c at all drug stores; guaranteed.

OUR OLDEST DOLL.

It Was Brought From England Over Two Centuries Ago.

Long, long ago, when William Penn sailed from England on his second visit to America, what do you think he brought with him on the good ship Canterbury? An English doll. This passenger is the sole survivor of that voyage across the Atlantic, which was made over 200 years ago.

William Penn had a little daughter named Letitia. Letitia heard her father tell wonderful tales of what he saw and heard in Pennsylvania on his first visit to this country, thousands of miles distant from Letitia's home. He often told her about little Miss Rankin, who, living as she did in the wilderness of Pennsylvania (for this was long ago, remember), had no toys at all, not even one rag doll. When Letitia's father was getting ready to again cross the ocean to America his little girl insisted upon sending a doll to that lonesome little girl.

So a doll was dressed in a court costume of striped and delicately tinted brocade and velvet. The skirt was held out by enormous hoops, for such was the fashion of the well-dressed ladies of that period. The doll itself is twenty inches high and has the long waist and slender form of the court beauties she left in her native land. Her hair is rolled back from her face, much in the style of today.

This doll now lives in Montgomery county, Maryland, in the strictest seclusion. She is only removed from her careful wrappings when little girls desire the honor of making the acquaintance of the oldest doll in America.—Philadelphia Press.
